Dr Yvonne Thompson CBE, Chair of ACBN, founding director of Choice FM(Now Capital Xtra) and more recently bestselling author, invites you to join our sessions and listen to those who have made it to the top of their industries. From BP, GQ Magazine and MediaCom the UK's largest media buying agency, come and hear who they are, where they are and how they got there.

The African Caribbean Business Network and the European Federation Of Black Women Business Leaders have come together with some of the UK's top Companies and organisations to play a village role, with the objective of "Your Future, Your Ambition".

A number of well known companies who embrace diversity and understand the value it brings to their organisations have come together to host a very exciting event for students aged 17+ years old. Register Now!

The aim of the event is to educate and excite students from predominately ethnic minority backgrounds on STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Maths) related subjects with a view to career prospects in the future.

The Sessions:

The 17+ students will be attending specific breakout sessions which are aimed at providing experience and exposure to the softer skills and differentiators required to stand out in front of prospective employers. These sessions will be hosted by ACBN, Ernst and Young, The Knowledge Channel, National Grid, and more.
